

There exists no sound reason in my mind to enable ANYONE more access to the 'netstream than they currently have. As it stands, wiretapping regulations are enough to ensure "national security."

Snooping in my email is the first step toward snooping in my regular mail, and I thoroughly oppose both.